One day while playing the card game Cardtropolis, my daughter said, "I could just imagine all these heroes playing a board game inside their secret lair". Her comment inspired me to start a comic series. Many months later, thought became action and Issue No.01: Game Night was born. Game Night features many of the Super Heroes and Super Villains found in the card game Cardtropolis, also created by Skyhammer Studios. I am thrilled to see Olayinka's script come to life with the amazing illustrations that Richard has designed. I hope everyone reading this comic enjoys it as much as I have!

Skyhammer Studios develops unique card and board games for families, young people, and kids. Our mission is to bring families closer together through shared experiences and fun.
